The better condition your equipment is in when you store it, the quicker to the field you'll be next spring. Replacing worn parts is an important factor for achieving maximum yields. When parts within the equipment fall outside of specification, they can't perform up to standards, and that can lead to poor, inconsistent stands and, ultimately, lower yields. Replace those parts now and you'll increase the likelihood your crops meet your standards next spring. Make your inspection appointment today at BORDER PLAINS.
